

Residence Life House Don

2023-2024

Job Description

York University Residence Life is committed to providing an educational experience to all students living in residence. York University residents will engage in transformative experiences that foster empathy, compassion, belonging, and a commitment to the enrichment of their communities and one another.

Dons are full-time students in good academic standing who have maintained a minimum 5.0 cumulative grade point average. Priority will be given to qualified applicants with practical leadership experience. Under the supervision of the Residence Life Coordinator (RLC), each Don is responsible for a community of approximately 45 students that live in residence. As well, Dons are responsible for carrying out their role throughout the building when on and off duty. Dons are expected to participate fully in residence activities and to act as role models for students. As a positive role model and leader, the Don will contribute to residents' well-being by assisting them in dealing effectively with academic, social, personal, and interpersonal concerns while taking on additional building-wide responsibilities and leadership opportunities.

Dons cannot have other employment or extra-curricular activities that interfere on a regular basis with fulfilling the responsibilities of the job (15 Hours/week). It is expected that Dons will be available and accessible to students on a daily basis, except during requested and approved absences. Dons hold a position of authority in the residences and it is expected that they will set a positive example by ensuring their conduct is in keeping with residence policies and that they act in a manner appropriate for a role model. Through their work in Residence Life, Dons advance the Division of Students' strategic priorities.

The House Don role provides an on-campus job opportunity for eligible York University undergraduate students. House Dons receive opportunities to work in a support role while developing valuable, relevant skills and work experience for the workplace. The role offers a learning and development opportunity for experiential on-the-job training, guidance, and mentorship. Under the guidance of professional staff members (Residence Life Coordinators), House Dons will provide support to students living in residence.

This position requires a service-focused individual who treats members of the community with respect, values their time, strives for their personal best, and collaborates to improve service experiences for all.

Job Duration

- Typically begins with a March/April orientation, followed by summer online training and August training, and continues through the academic year residence occupancy period. The job requires a commitment of approximately 15 hours per week.

Competencies

Through this role, a Residence Life House Don will have opportunities to develop and enhance specific skills in the following competencies:

1. Communication
2. Relationship-Building
3. Personal Success
4. Social Responsibility
5. Knowledge Acquisition and Application
6. Problem-Solving
7. Collaboration
8. Customer Service

Organizational Status

This position reports directly to a Residence Life Coordinator and works in cooperation with Housing & Conference Services and campus partners.
